

Marketing Expert Gives Away $500 Worth Of His Services Free To 10 Entrepreneurs

If you've ever wanted to discover how to increase your sales by using the Internet, you'll want to take advantage of this one-time opportunity.

Rocky Tapscott, a marketing expert to small business owners, is offering an abbreviated version of his $1,000 Online Marketing Audit Service - FREE - to a limited number of forward thinking business owners. Rocky will reveal...how to use simple websites to generate dozens of new customers for your business every week...how to use proven email marketing strategies to convert prospects into consistent buyers...how to use social media marketing to brand yourself as the obvious expert in your local area, and more.

Rocky is making this unusual offer because he wants to show local business owners how they can use the internet to increase sales, and to get some case study examples he can share with future prospects in Jimboomba.. This offer is only available to 10 people, so if you are interested, you should act fast.
